

From: Hayter, Earl J ERDC-RDE-EL-MS
To: Miller, Garyg
Subject: RE: SJRWP
Date: Tuesday, November 12, 2013 2:05:11 PM

Gary,

From these photos, could you show on a map of the site the approximate location of this deposited material?

Thanks,

Earl

> -----Original Message-----
> From: Miller, Garyg [<mailto:Miller.Garyg@epa.gov>]
> Sent: Tuesday, November 12, 2013 3:00 PM
> To: David Keith
> Cc: Leos, Valmichael; Walters, Donn; Sanchez, Carlos; Hayter, Earl J
> ERDC-CHL-MS
> Subject: [EXTERNAL] FW: SJRWP
>
> David,
>
>
>
> Just received this from the San Jacinto community; I would appreciate > any comments you may wish to make on this. There will be a community > meeting (not EPA) tomorrow (Wed) night, and they are very interested in > this. It may be within, or just beyond, the footprint of the TCRA cap?
>
>
>
> Thanks,
>
>
>
> Gary Miller
>
> EPA Remedial Project Manager
>
> 214-665-8318
>
> miller.garyg@epa.gov
>
>
>
> -----
> -----
>
> Gary,
>
>
>
> I have attached the photos I mentioned earlier today. Below is the > caption the community member post with the photos.
>
> "There is a new island that grew just north of the pits. I mean it is 9493919

> JUST north of the pits. It wasn't there until we had the south wind > blow all the high tides in. Not sure what caused it but it seems kind > of suspicious it is so close to the pits and so soon after a tropical > south wind. The tide will go out as soon as this northern blows in > Tuesday and Wednesday I will get some more pictures of it when the > water is blown out. "